

Dutch National Radio Flea market 2015.

On Saturday, the 21st of March 2015, the VERON, dept. 's-Hertogenbosch, organises the 40th annual Dutch National Radio Fleamarket, again in the "Autotron" in Rosmalen ('s-Hertogenbosch) from 9.00 till 15.30.

In the previous 40 years this flea market grew into one of the major Dutch Ham events. In 2014 we received about 5000 visitors. Apart from sniffing around in the more than 330 stands (2014), this is, of course, the event to meet "everyone" again in a very stimulating environment.

The market.

This event is a Flea Market, however used as well as new equipment may be sold, as well as new electronic components, measuring-instruments, antennas and hobby-tools, etc. . Stands with unrelated materials will not be admitted.

Many people are coming, not only to shop, but also to meet old friends and to sniff the atmosphere. We expect this 40th Dutch National Radio Fleamarket to be something special again and to be a great event for all radio amateurs.

There are restaurant facilities for snacks and refreshments.

Smoking is forbidden by law.

Entrance and tickets.

De fleamarket is opened from 9.00 - 15.30., the entrance fee is unchanged at € 8,- per person. There are ample parking facilities (paid). The ticket boxes open at 8 o'clock, so that you can enter the restaurant early. Next to the regular ticketbox there will be one for "no-change".

Route

The AUTOTRON is indicated on the motorway signs on the A2 and the A59 and is only a short distance from the A59. The A59 runs from Den Bosch to Nijmegen. There are excellent parking facilities where you pay when leaving.

The Autotron can also be reached by public transport: by bus Nr. 90 (please check) or by train taxi from the train station of Den Bosch.
